The ideal garden has many Roses in it. Roses here, and there, and everywhere. There cannot be too many of them. ## DECORATIVE FERNS

ALL FERNS ARE POT GROWN

More Ferns are killed by watering than from lack of it. When soil is sticky, do not water. When soil is dry, water thoroughly. The best way is to stand pot in basin of water 15 minutes. Watch for the very small white specks on underside of leaf near base of stem, for this spray with Shep, enough Shep to make 4 gallons of spray for 40c. Postpaid.

WHITMAN II (Ostrich Plume Fern)—More of a dwarf than the Boston Fern. The fronds are of entirely different nature. Each frond is subdivided on the order of the Compacta Fern, thus producing a very beautiful effect. Its decorative ability is excellent. Price, 15c.

BOSTON FERNS—An old stand-by that is hard to beat. Has long, graceful drooping fronds. Grows very large and is very popular. Price, 10c.

COMPACT SWORD FERN—Resembles the Boston, only more dwarf and more erect and darker shade of green gracefully arched. A good house plant. Price, 15c.

TEDDY JUNIOR—New dwarf fern, said to produce nearly four times as many fronds as any other fern introduced; fronds are broad and tapered from base to top. Price, 15c each.

DIRECTIONS FOR CHRYSANTHEMUMS WHICH IF FOLLOWED, WILL INSURE SUCCESS

WHEN TO PLANT—Anytime after the ground can be worked, even up to June 20th, will give you good blooming plants in the fall.

SOIL—Dig the ground deep; put in quantities of manure. The Chrysanthemum is a gross feeder; if fed well the flowers will be large and the plant strong.

DISBUDDING—If you want large flowers, keep plants pruned and disbudded, leaving only three or four buds, for a real show bloom leave only one.

WHEN TO LIFT—In localities subject to heavy frosts in October or November, plants should be lifted into larger pots by September 1. After lifting drench thoroughly and never allow them to suffer for water. Give manure water, if possible, once a week. If protected from frost by sheeting, they need not be brought into the house till well into October; and when brought in place in a room without fire; give plenty of air when not frosty. In cold climate winter in cellar.

Chrysanthemums enemy—Black Aphis and Mealy Bug.

Keep them sprayed with Shep. Enough Shep to make four gallons of spray, 40c.

ACQUATIC PLANTS

FOR THE LILY POOL

WATER HYANCITHS—Fill bowl about half full of good soil. Pour in water until it will stand two or three inches deep. Place the lower roots in soil and let plants float in water. Has fine blooms, borne on spike of bluish color. fine for fish bowls or outside pools. Will grow fine floating on top of water but will not bloom so well unless roots reach soil. Price, 15c; 2 for 25c.

HARDY WATER LILIES—Lilies are easy to plant, but it must be noted that they are to be set horizontally and not be put in up and down or they will likely fail to start. Just press them into the ground, covering them with an inch of soil away from off the growing end. The soil should be well firmed around them. An inch of sand or gravel put on the box after they have been planted will help to keep the water clear and prevent the goldfish from rooting in the mud. A few days after planting if the water becomes dark and discolored from the fertilizer used, it will be well to drain the water off and fill up with fresh. In our own pools we always do this and recommend it particularly for small pools. We think it the most essential thing in establishing a pool.

PAUL HARIOT—Very large. When first opened the flowers are canary yellow, the second day shaded with pink at base of petals; very beautiful.

DARLINGTONIA SNAKE HEADED, FLESH EATING PLANT

One of the queerest and most fascinating plants known to man. It resembles the hooded cobra of the jungles of India.

The plant has no leaves, the stalks are twisted and funnel shape, small at the bottom, growing larger with a rounded hood at the top from which hang two crimson and green apendages which have the appearance of feelers or whisks.

Top of the hood is beautifully mottled by white translucent areas through which the interior is lighted. Both hood and appendages bear many honey glands, the excretion from which tempts bugs, flies, in fact all kinds of insects toward the mouth, an orifice on the under side of the hood, and are lured inside the funnel-like stem from which they can not come back, as the stem is lined with enumerable little hair-like prongs all pointing downward, and once they get below a few of these points they have to continue on downward where they are absorbed in the digestive fluid or liquid in the bottom of the stem.

The Darlingtonia is a perennial plant, growing year after year and can be grown as a house plant in pots using sandy soil and leaf mould. They do best outside in a shaded position, where they require very little care, but should never be allowed to become dry. Beautiful purple flower.

If kept in a room free from all insects, it is advisable once or twice weekly to place a few small particles of raw beef, about the size of a grain of wheat, in the orifice for its nourishment; however, if placed where there are other plants in the average room, a sufficient number of insects will be attracted from them, making artificial feeding unnecessary.

THANKS! MRS. WARD

Yellville, Arkansas.

September 3, 1933

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Taylor:

While I am writing letters of thanks to our many friends who so sweetly expressed their sympathy for us in our recent sorrow, I wish to write a word of appreciation to you.

Although the weather was hot, the many offerings reached us in perfect condition. You will recall that three years ago we lost a loved one and that our many friends there were just as thoughtful and generous. In each instance, we received flowers from many places, Little Rock, Springfield, Memphis, St. Louis, and other places—and while the offerings from these places were lovely and greatly appreciated, they in no way outclassed yours in freshness, arrangement, or beauty. Each time your flowers came thru without a single wilted blossom, and with no evidence of shipment. In fact your flowers will "stand up" or "hold their own" among any large collection of offerings—and your prices are invariably less than city prices.

When I think of how quickly you have built up such a splendid business, I feel it is greatly because of your kindly, neighborly understanding of your customers sorrows and joys, and the big efforts you make to please.

Somehow I just wanted to write you thus—It may please you to know your shipments arrive promptly in perfect condition. You render a great service to Russellville and vicinity, and you have built up an indispensable enterprise there.

In a few days I shall be back home, and shall drive out and see if your supply of bulbs for Fall is in.

With every good wish for your continued success, I am

Yours truly,

Mrs. J. B. Ward.
